Infection Control in the Intensive Care Unit Hendrick K.F. van Saene,Luciano Silvestri,Miguel A. de la Cal,Antonino Gullo,2011-12-26 Intensive care is a rapidly changing area of medicine and after four years from the 2nd edition the volume editors and authors have deemed necessary to update it In the recent years in fact five new randomised controlled trials and five new meta analyses demonstrate that selective decontamination of the digestive tract SDD is an antimicrobial prophylaxis to prevent severe infections of not only lower airways but also of blood Additionally SDD has been shown to reduce inflammation including multiple organ failure and mortality An intriguing observation is the evidence that SDD using parenteral and enteral antimicrobials reduces rather than increases antimicrobial resistance Moreover a new chapter on microcirculation had been added The volume will be an invaluable tool for all those requiring in depth knowledge in the ever expanding field of infection control

Faden,1998-02-13 It is estimated that up to thirteen percent of hospital admissions result from the adverse effects of diagnosis or treatment and that almost seventy percent of iatrogenic complications are preventable The obligation to do no harm has been central to medical conduct since ancient times yet iatrogenic illness has now come to be recognized as a significant risk factor in health care delivery This book integrates history philosophy medical ethics and empirical data to examine the concept and phenomenon of medical harm Issues covered include appropriateness of care acceptable risk and practitioner accountability and the book concludes with recommendations for limiting iatrogenic harm Essential reading for medical ethicists physicians and those involved in health care policy and administration this stimulating and highly readable book will be of interest to all providers of health care and many of their patients

Epidemic of Medical Errors and Hospital-Acquired Infections William Charney,2012-02-06 Medical error as defined in Epidemic of Medical Errors and Hospital Acquired Infections Systemic and Social Causes encompasses many categories including but not limited to medical error hospital acquired infections medication errors deaths from misdiagnosis deaths from infectious diarrhea in nursing homes surgical and post operative complications lethal blood clots in veins and excessive radiation from CT scans When the deaths from these categories are counted they become the leading cause of fatality to Americans outpacing cancer and heart disease Add the numbers of fatalities mortality to the millions each year who are injured morbidity and whose quality of life is forever effected and an epidemic of harm is defined The book describes the many systemic and social causes of medical error and iatrogenic events all of which are cited in the peer review science that have a direct effect on the epidemic of patient injury but are rarely or never considered These systemic causes include factory medicine for profit medicine staffing ratios in clinical and non clinical departments shift work healthcare working conditions lack of accountability legal issues that conflict with patient safety issues bullying and hierarchical relationships training of healthcare workers that never rises to the level of risk and injury to healthcare workers The premise of the book is that if the systemic or social causes are not considered or changed then medical error will continue to be an epidemic and no substantial impact in the numbers will be realized An expert with 30 years of experience as a health and safety officer in healthcare and as an activist for community health and safety issues editor and author William Charney explores the issues surrounding medical errors and examines the science behind possible solutions He presents an efficient dialogue that produces a more systemic exploration and targeting of the causes of medical error and drives an exacting message we are dealing with an epidemic of harm and unless systemic issues are solved little will change to subdue the epidemic Information on the June 2012 Conference on the Epidemic of Medical Errors Hospital Acquired Infections in the US and Canada the Systemic Causes can be found on the CRC Press Issuu page

Infection Control in Intensive Care Units by Selective Decontamination Hendrik K.F.van Saene,C.P. Stoutenbeek,Peter Lawin,I.McA. Ledingham,2012-12-06 Selective decontamination is a technique which combines short term and long term antimicrobials to prevent or treat the acquisition and subsequent carriage of microorganisms causing late colonization and infections The antimicrobials are selective in that they leave the indigenous mostly anaerobic flora more or less intact whilst the effective decontamination provides a genuine breakthrough in the endogenous route of pathogenesis The improvements in decontamination techniques presented here offer significant reduction in infection related morbidity and mortality among trauma patients

Healthcare-Associated Infections in Children J. Chase McNeil, Judith R. Campbell, Jonathan D. Crews, 2018-10-30 With advances in technology and medical science children with previously untreatable and often fatal conditions such as congenital heart disease extreme prematurity and pediatric malignancy are living longer While this is a tremendous achievement pediatric providers are now more commonly facing challenges in these medical complex children both as a consequence of their underlying disease and the delivery of medical care The term healthcare associated infections HAIs encompass both infections that occur in the hospital and those that occur as a consequence of healthcare exposure and medical complexity in the outpatient setting HAIs are associated with substantial morbidity and mortality for the individual patient as well as seriously taxing the healthcare system as a whole In studies from the early 2000s over 11% of all children in pediatric intensive care units develop HAIs and this figure increases substantially if neonatal intensive care units are considered While progress has been made in decreasing the rates of HAI in the hospital these infections remain a major burden on the medical system In a study published in 2013 the annual estimated costs of the five most common HAIs in the United States totaled 9.8 billion An estimated 648,000 patients developed HAIs in hospitals within the US in 2011 and children with healthcare associated bloodstream infection have a greater than three fold increased risk of death While a number of texts discuss HAIs in the broader context of infectious diseases or pediatric infectious diseases such as Mandell's Principles and Practice of Infectious Diseases or Long and Pickering's Principles and Practice of Pediatric Infectious Diseases no single text specifically focuses on the epidemiology diagnosis and management of HAI in children Many infectious diseases texts are organized based on the microbiology of infection and from this starting point then discussing the clinical syndromes associated with the organism of interest For instance a chapter on Staphylococcus aureus may contain a brief discussion of the role of S aureus in surgical site infections in the wider context of all staphylococcal disease For clinicians caring for children at the bedside however the clinical syndrome is typically appreciated and intervention necessary prior to organism identification We propose a text that details both the general principles involved in HAIs and infection prevention but also provides a problem oriented approach Such a text would be of interest to intensivists neonatologists hospitalists oncologists infection preventionists and infectious diseases specialists The proposed text will be divided into three principle sections 1 Basic Principles of Infection Control and Prevention 2 Major Infectious Syndromes and 3 Infections in Vulnerable Hosts Chapters in the Major Infectious Syndromes section will include discussion of the epidemiology microbiology clinical features diagnosis medical management or surgical management as appropriate and prevention of the disease entity of interest Chapters will seek to be evidenced based as much as possible drawing from the published medical literature as well as from clinical practice guidelines such as those from the Infectious Diseases Society of America when applicable We intend to include tables figures and algorithms as appropriate to assist clinicians in the evaluation and management of these often complex patients Finally we intend to invite authors to participate in this project from across a number of medical specialties including infectious diseases infection control critical care oncology and surgery to provide a multidisciplinary understanding of disease It is our intent to have many chapters be co written by individuals in different subspecialties for instance a chapter on ventilator associated pneumonia may be co written by both infectious disease and critical care medicine specialists Such a unique text has the potential to provide important guidance for clinicians caring for these often fragile children
